- Enclosure in a niche bench, boulder or statue
- The Lexington Cemetery Scattering Garden

The Lexington Crematory
The Lexington Crematory, located on the community memorial grounds, was one of the first in Kentucky. It has three cremation chambers, a viewing area designed and decorated to offer comfort to family and friends during the cremation process and as a place for religious families to fulfill their obligations.

Mark Durbin
Assistant General Manager, The Lexington Cemetery
National Director, Cremation Association of North America

"Having a crematory on our memorial cemetery grounds allows us to help families through the cremation, memorialization and commemoration process."
